Beats for Bella is a 501(c) 3 non-profit organization that strives to create awareness for Congenital Heart Defects (CHDs) by telling the story of our daughter Bella Borkowski. We focus on raising funds so that we can contribute to CHD Research that will allow for life saving advancements in treatment and enriching the quality of life for children with Congenital Heart Defects.

Bella spent the first month of her life in the cardiac unit at CHOP. She received her first open heart surgery at 7 days old and her second at 4 months old. Bella had her third and final planned open heart surgery to complete her repair on April 4, 2016. While her repair is complete her life with a Congenital Heart Defect will never end. She needs continued cardiac care.

At Beats for Bella we work very hard to spread awareness for Congenital Heart Defects. 1 in 110 babies are born with a Congenital Heart Defect and 1 in 4,344 babies are born with HLHS annually, yet research is significantly underfunded. We hold a variety of fundraisers throughout the year as well as constant social media awareness projects to help spread the word about what Bella and so many other children fighting a Congenital Heart Defect go through.

Sincerely
Erin Borkowski
